April 2026

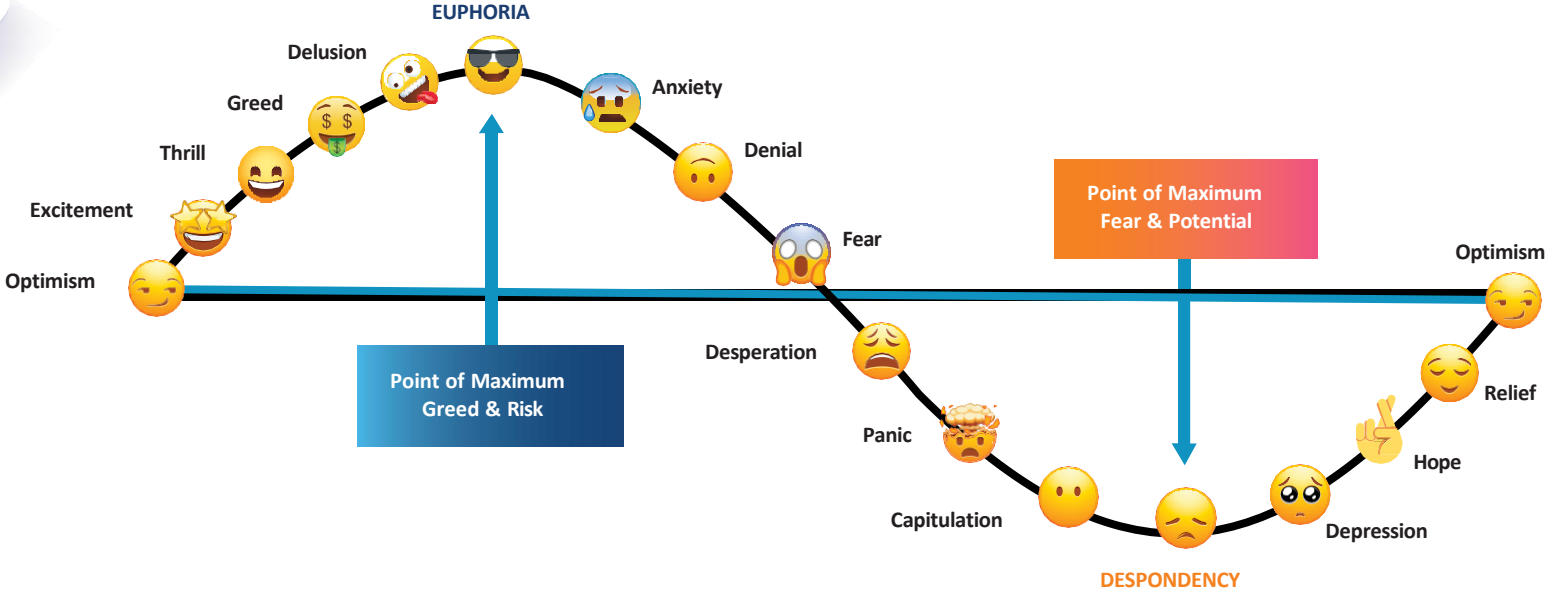

There is a Gap between investor expectations and investors realty

Volatility & Investors Behavioral Changes

With constant volatility in the Market the investor goes through various emotional biases and turmoil's leading him to taking an unfavorable decision

Investor's Confusion and Asset Allocation

- When to buy & When to sell
- What to Buy and at which level
- What to sell and at which level
- What should be the allocation percentage
- Which asset class to buy as per current market scenario

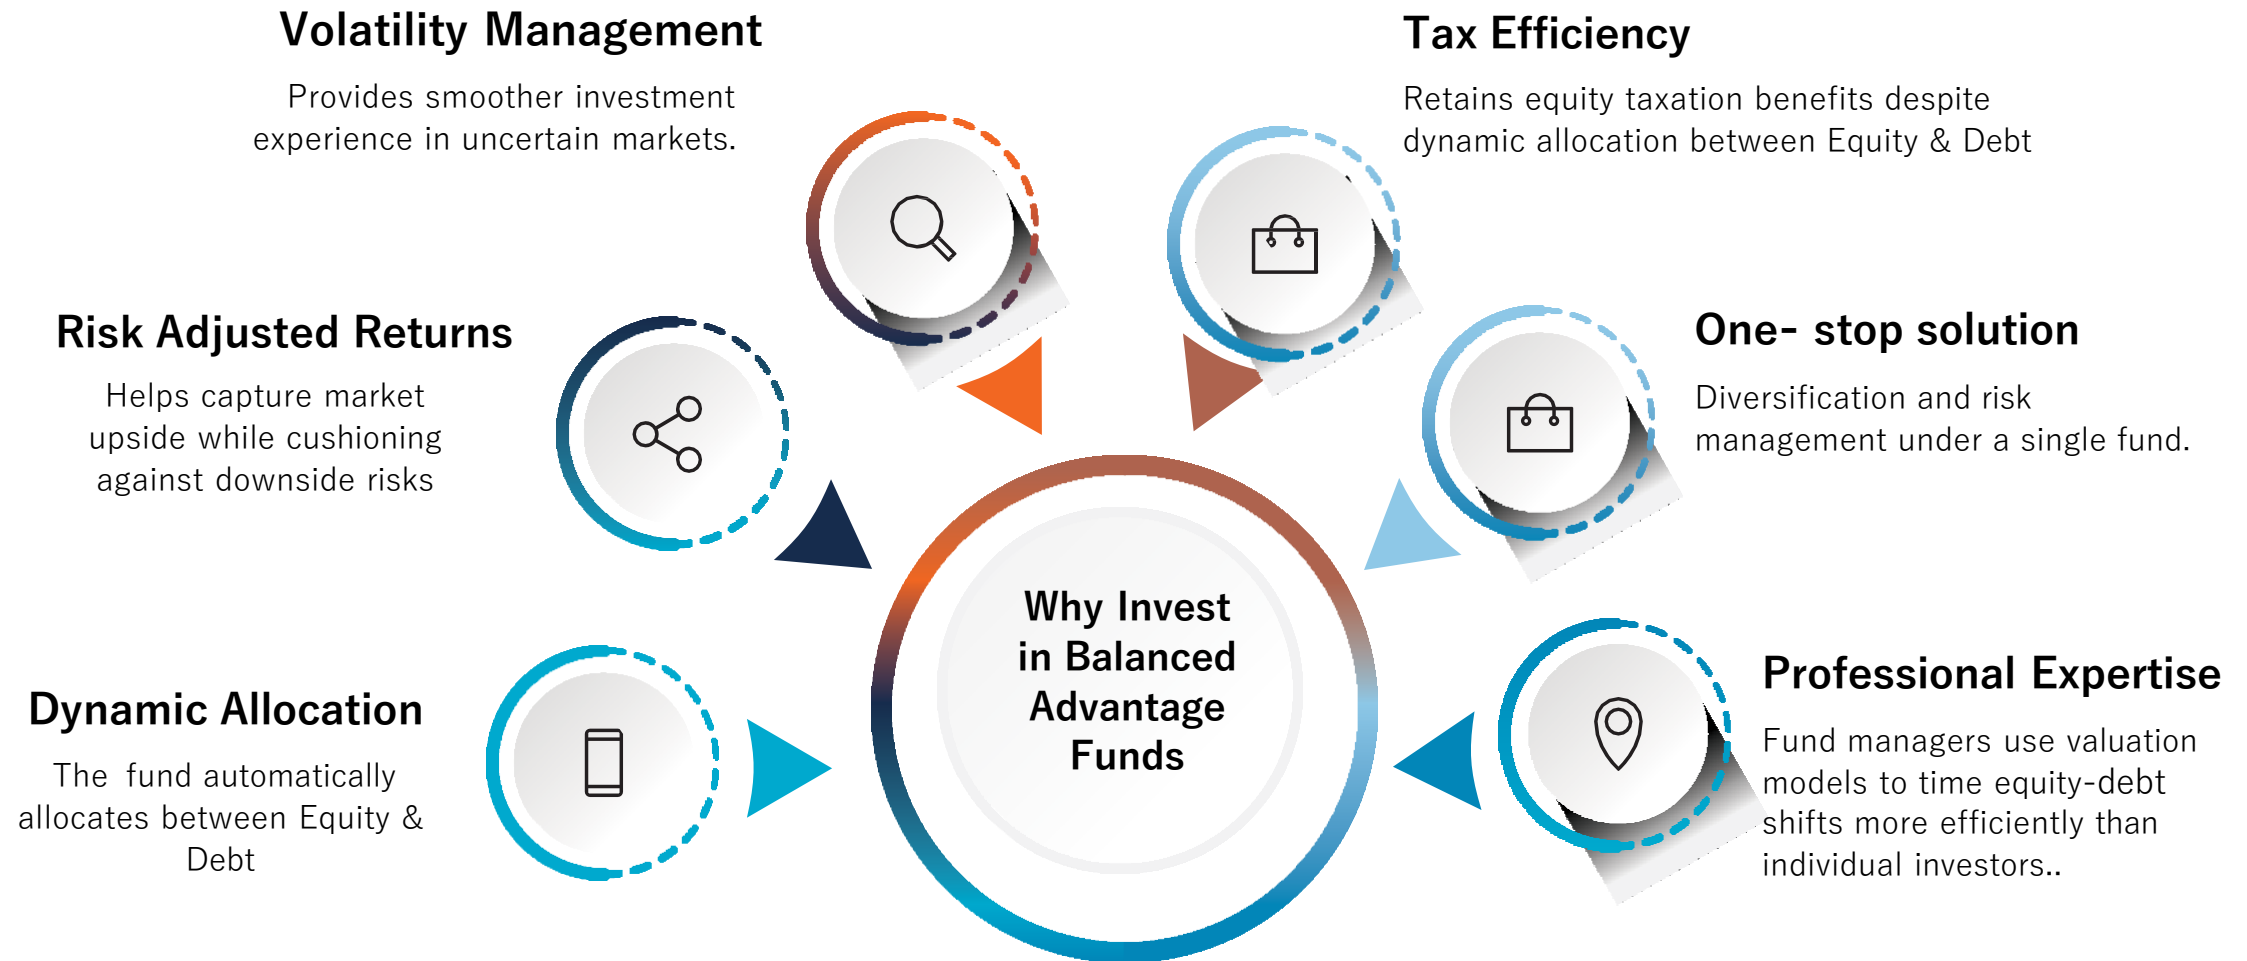

Thus, selecting a fund designed to handle these issues provides better support.

Investment Framework

- Dynamic Asset Allocation fund aims at generating equity like returns with lower volatility
- The fund framework allows it to invest in three asset classes – Equity, Debt and Arbitrage, Where based on a pre-defined asset allocation model the allocation varies between Equity and Debt.
- Given the equity taxation, fund needs to keep equity investment (Equity + Arbitrage) at 65%. The net equity range as per our model can be between 30% to 80%, arbitrage between 0% to 35% and debt can be between 20% to 35%.

Outlook on the Equity Parameters of the Fund

- As on April 30, 2026, net equity allocation is 55.26%, arbitrage was at 13.22% and debt at 31.52%.
- The net equity allocation for the fund is model driven and with some market correction in Jan-2026, we have increased the equity allocation by ~2% from Dec-25 equity of 51.5% to 53.5%.
- Corporate earnings in 3QFY26, are better than expected and we saw upgrades. We expect revival in earnings growth to continue in coming quarters led by (1) higher nominal GDP* growth in FY27 at 10% (v/s 8% in FY26; (2) recovery in consumption demand from 2HFY26, aided by lower GST, income tax and interest rates; and (3) stronger export revenues on the conclusion of the long-pending India-US trade deal.
- While we have flexibility in terms of market cap allocation, given the fund profile; we have kept the portfolio large cap biased with a mix of growth and value opportunities.
- Our key overweight sectors as on 30th April 2026 are Pharmaceuticals & Biotechnology, Capital Markets, Automobiles ; while we are underweight on IT - Software and Petroleum Products.

Outlook on the debt levels of the fund

- The current debt holdings are a mix of government securities, high quality corporate bonds & certificate of deposits.
- The debt component is generally a buy and hold strategy, but for periodic adjustment for any significant change in interest rate expectations;
- RBI kept the repo rate unchanged at 5.25% in April 2026, supported by strong economic growth, low inflation, and rising global uncertainties.
- With rate cuts aggregating 125 bps undertaken by RBI since January 2025, the focus has shifted towards liquidity driven transmission of rate cuts. To this effect, RBI has continued to infuse durable liquidity to support transmission.
- Given relatively high credit vs deposit growth, borrowings by banks by way of Certificate of Deposits have been elevated, thereby resulting in a bear-flattening of the curve since January 2026;
- The overall interest rate environment remains stable with liquidity based transmission expected to result in compressing spreads over the medium-term driven by durable measures by RBI.
- As such, spreads in the 1 - 3 year segment remains attractive with accrual oriented strategy to maximize investor returns.
- In view of the above, the fund has added high quality accrual instruments primary in the 1-3 year segment.
